

Come see the Horicon High School production of Game of Tiaras on Friday, November 1st at 7:00 pm, or two shows on Saturday, November 2nd at 2:00 or 7:00 pm. When the aging king of a Magical Kingdom decides to split his empire between his three daughters, Cinderella, Belle, and the Snow Queen, terrible tragedy ensues. Terrible, hilarious tragedy. Combining the gut-wrenching plot twists of Game of Thrones and the soul-numbing despair of Shakespearean tragedy, this adaptation of King Lear will leave you dying with laughter as the body count mounts. When you play the Game of Tiaras, you win or you die.

Tickets go on sale two weeks prior to the show at Ace Hardware in Horicon; $7 general, $5 students and seniors. Due to some crude humor and cartoonish violence, parental guidance is advised for this production.
